INVITATION TO SUPPORT ACP-i SCHOLARSHIPS

A unique opportunity

ACP-i is the only international advance care planning conference in the world. It represents a unique opportunity to directly reach an international audience representing this rapidly growing sector.

The ACP-i Scholarship Program seeks to support worthy candidates, who otherwise may not be able to participate in this invaluable learning and networking experience.

Over 400 delegates, including health and aged care industry leaders, academics, policy makers, peak bodies, consumer groups, and professionals from around the world will connect at the 9th Advance Care Planning International Conference (ACP-i) on Yugambah Country on the Gold Coast, Australia, from 24-26 September 2025.

Advance care planning involves planning for future health care and contributes to more respectful, effective and compassionate care, benefiting both individuals and communities.

As an ACP-i Scholarship Sponsor, you will have the opportunity to:

- be front and centre in important advance care planning conversations and connect with the sector
- build awareness of your brand as a leader within the industry
- network with delegates from right across the sector, including industry leaders, decision makers and influencers
- connect with First Nations and diverse communities
- engaging at a grass roots level and drawing on illuminating stories from the coalface of person-centred care
- support the participation of domestic or international delegates so they may benefit from the educational and networking opportunities that otherwise may not be available to them.

We look forward to partnering with you for the ACP-i 2025 Scholarship Program!

CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

Conference overview

- Advance Care Planning Australia (ACPA) will be hosting the 9th Advance Care Planning International (ACP-i) Conference, from 24-26 September 2025.
- ACPA is the national authority on advance care planning. ACPA supports individuals, health and aged care professionals and systems to ensure peoples' preferences and wishes for future health care are known and respected.
- The ACP-i Conference is held once every two years and ACPA warmly invites all members of the international advance care planning community which will bring together over 400 delegates comprising healthcare and social service administrators, clinical practitioners, researchers, academics and policymakers.
- Advance care planning is a crucial starting point in the journey towards person and family-centred care. The conference theme 'Are we there yet?' aims to embrace these journeys by interweaving advance care planning best practices and research through cultural, personal, organisational, system, and societal lenses.
- It promises to stimulate insightful discussion and healthy debate, providing grassroots perspectives from consumers and health professionals.
- The conference's call to action is to inspire new ways of thinking, and approach advance care planning in a way that positively shapes the outcomes that matter most to individuals, families and communities.
- The conference program is carefully curated to elicit fresh views and critique from international thought leaders and practitioners. This conference also creates a platform for leaders and practitioners to network with potential partners.

Conference objectives

- Showcasing developments in policy, health systems organisation and technology that advance the practice of advance care planning.
- Informing on emerging trends, opportunities and challenges that impact the practice of advance care planning and generate discussion on how our systems and practitioners can respond.
- Sharing stories and diverse lived experiences, exploring approaches to advance care planning in a culturally safe and inclusive environment, with attention to Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and global First Nations communities.
- Enabling productive engagements and the sharing of best practices and ideas across countries, sectors, and roles.

CONFERENCE SCHOLARSHIP SPONSOR

Delegate Conference Scholarships

Domestic | $2,500 + GST per Scholarship recipient | Multiple

International | $5,500 + GST per Scholarship recipient | Multiple

To recognise and facilitate stronger links with people from diverse backgrounds and experiences, the ACP-i 2025 conference offers the opportunity for organisations to sponsor a delegate package.

These scholarships will support investing in the professional development of delegates who are:

- Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and global First Nations communities
- based in rural and remote areas
- discipline specific—allied health and nursing
- from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- from consumer groups with lived experience
- full-time students
- early career researchers
- from low and middle income countries.

We would be pleased to negotiate with potential sponsors about which of the above areas you would like to assist or explore other sponsorship options to tailor your organisation's requirements.

As a Conference Scholarship Sponsor, you will help promote participation, reduce barriers for delegates wishing to attend the conference and ensure the widest possible representation at ACP-i2025. Your sponsorship will cover the cost of a full conference registration plus networking events, and funds towards accommodation and travel.

Scholarship sponsor benefits include:

- Acknowledgement of your partnership using your logo:
  - On the ACPi2025 lanyard
  - On the ACPi2025 website
  - On all conference marketing material
  - On all partnership signage throughout the venue
  - On a partnerships PowerPoint slide displayed throughout the conference
  - Announcement of partnership through ACPi2025 and Advance Care Planning Australia social media channels
- One full conference registration
- Your organisation listed in the conference program as sponsor of a Conference Scholarship package
- Photo opportunity with sponsored delegate
- A copy of the delegate list (in compliance with Australian Privacy regulations).

Scholarship delegate inclusions include:

- Conference registration
- Conference social functions
- Funds towards accommodation
- Funds towards flights.

CONNECTED JOURNEYS – SKY, LAND, WATER

Artwork story

The artwork tells a story of culture and connection, representing sky, land, and water Country, which are essential to our existence and at the heart of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures – we honour Country. These elements symbolise the interconnectedness of all life, echoing the mission of Advance Care Planning Australia to honour individual stories and wishes. In this artwork, there is Sky Country, with suns, moons, stars, and the Dreaming, and Country is centred in the centre circle, with a campfire, people sitting to yarn, kangaroo tracks, bushtucker, message sticks and boomerangs, and the Water Country, is at the bottom, where the motifs represent the water swirling around, as a lifeforce that sustains us.

About the artist

I'm Lauren Rogers, a contemporary artist from Brisbane, Australia. My background is a mix of Ngarabul, Torres Strait Islander, and Celtic ancestry. I've dedicated myself to sharing my culture through various artistic mediums including visual art, digital art, public art, art licensing, and cultural creative workshops for people of all ages.

My heart lies in painting native botanical arts and traditional styles, and I've recently started to explore digital illustration. My artistic journey began at a young age, and over time, I've turned it into a profession to humbly share the richness of my culture with a wider audience. My hope is to spark imagination and curiosity, inviting viewers to connect with the stories and meanings embedded in my work.
